

A black and white portrait of Frederick Douglass, an older man with a full white beard and mustache, wearing a dark suit and a white shirt with a dark bow tie. He is looking slightly to the right of the camera.

Reading Frederick Douglass Together

#RFDT25

As America celebrates our first 250 years, join us in community to explore the complex layers of our history through Frederick Douglass's powerful words. We'll gather for a reading of his famous "What to the slave is the Fourth of July?" speech. Afterwards, stay for a conversation facilitated by Dr. Eden-Reneé Hayes where we'll grapple with questions about justice, equality, and American identity.

All voices welcome. All perspectives valued. All ages invited.

Tuesday, July 1
7:00 PM

Wayland Library Round Room
Register: tinyurl.com/way-douglass

Presented by the Wayland Museum & Historical Society, the Wayland Free Public Library, the Town of Wayland's Human Rights, Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion Committee, the League of Women Voters-Wayland, and Wayland Rev250.

WAYLAND
MUSEUM
&
HISTORICAL SOCIETY

This program is made possible by a grant from Mass Humanities, which provided funding through the Massachusetts Cultural Council (MCC). Mass Humanities is a state-based affiliate of the National Endowment for the Humanities.